Two Re-Elected To Production Credit Board

The 24th annual meeting of the Harrisburg Production Credit Association was held Tuesday at the Kurto Country club, Harrisburg, with a large number of members and guests present.

During the meeting, which began with a lunch at 11:30, the annual business meeting was conducted, with various reports given, two members of the board of directors elected, attendance awards were made and Dr. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the First Methodist church of Harrisburg, made the principal address.

Dr. Cummins told the members they could only expect to get benefits from the organization in proportion to what they put into it. "This is true in all walks of life," the speaker declared. Using the topic "Getting What You Want In Life," Dr. Cummins stated "The measure you give will be the measure you get."

"We must put something into life if we expect to get something from life . . . to have friends, we must be a friend . . . neglect destroys friendships, home life, in fact every thing worthwhile in life can be destroyed by neglect," Dr. Cummins told his audience.

During the business meeting F. E. Bramlet of Eldorado and W. P. Rendleman of Wolf Lake were re-elected to the board of directors for a three-year term. Other members are Max Wilson, Ridgway; W. H. Beauman, Tunnel Hill; E. A. Fosse, Marion.

Many Persons in Area Report Seeing Sputnik II

A number of persons reported to The Daily Register this morning that they saw Sputnik II at 5:45 a. m. today.

From all over the midwest, the United Press reported, persons saw Russia's second satellite, appearing like a large blue-white diamond in its silent sweep across the sky.

Those reporting seeing the dog-carrying satellite were Ray Durham, Cebren Parks, Henry Hancock, Mrs. Thomas H. McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers and Clyde Pittman, who reported the shovel crew working at Sahara strip mine all saw it together.

The United Press reported that there were reports of Sputnik II from the West Coast to the Midwest. It first flashed over northern California between San Francisco and Monterey. Chicago people reported seeing it at 5:47 a. m.

Local persons said the satellite was very distinct, travelling in a northeasterly direction, and was clear for about two minutes.

Rodney J. Faxon, Ground Observer Corps co-ordinator for Chicago, said the audio beeping sound was picked up at 5:37 a. m. and the sound faded out about ten minutes after Sputnik II was lost from sight.

Ridicules U. S. Efforts to Catch Up With Russia

Says Capitalist Order Would Perish If War Breaks Out

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev said today new Soviet technical advances meant the "capitalist order will perish" if a new war breaks out.

"But we are not striving to victory by such a path," he told a special meeting of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) attended by Communist leaders from throughout the world.

"Relying on war," he told the cheering audience at the Luzhniki indoor sports stadium "would be anti-moral and would be contrary to our Communist world outlook." Khrushchev ridiculed American efforts to catch up with a Soviet technology which already has perfected the intercontinental ballistic missile and sent two artificial earth satellites hurtling into space.

Asks "High Level" Meeting
Khrushchev mentioned the forthcoming Paris meeting of NATO during a three hour and five minute major policy address to the jubilee session of the Supreme Soviet. President Eisenhower is to attend the NATO meeting.

Then he called for a "high level" meeting of representatives of capitalist and socialist countries so as to reach agreement on excluding war as a means of solving political questions.

Khrushchev said imperialist forces were "as (Secretary of State John Foster) Dulles put it, keeping the world on the brink of war."

"Even the launching of the Sputnik has been used by the imperialists to sound the alarm," he said. "We solemnly declare that our people has never thought and does not think to use any means of destruction if our country is not subjected to an attack by imperialist states."

"A new war would produce enormous devastation and capitalism would perish," Khrushchev said. "We are convinced that as a result of a new war the capitalist order will perish."

He said the NATO meeting "promises nothing good to the cause of peace. It is not accidental that Eisenhower and (British Prime Minister Harold) Macmillan have invited (NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri) Spaak to their meeting."

"It shows that imperialists are striving to draw right wing socialists into their plans."

"The policy of positions of strength must be abandoned," Khrushchev said.

His marathon speech was delivered in two sections. He spoke for about two hours and then resumed after a 30-minute rest. All 13 members of the Presidium were on the speakers stage with such visiting Communists as China's Mao Tse-tung and Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov, two former members of the Presidium who were disgraced last June with Vyacheslav Molotov and Georgi Malenkov, were present. It was believed Molotov, Malenkov and ousted Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov were in the audience too.

Khrushchev took time during his speech to renew his charges that the United States is "plotting against Syria and inciting Israel and Turkey to provocation."

Then Khrushchev ridiculed American efforts to launch a satellite.

Setback for Eisenhower, GOP

Election Victories By Demos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Election returns from New Jersey, Virginia and New York City added up today to another political setback for President Eisenhower and the GOP.

For the Democrats, the reelection of Gov. Robert B. Meyner in New Jersey projected a new glamor boy into the array of potential candidates for the 1960 presidential nomination. This was a real defeat for the administration, which had gone all out in support of Republican Malcolm S. Forbes.

But in Virginia, the National Democratic Party could draw little more comfort than the GOP over the fact that the Democratic candidate for governor won more easily than in 1953. The Democratic campaign there was keyed to massive resistance to racial integration in schools and was a reminder that the Democratic family quarrel over the civil rights issue can only become more intense.

On that issue, Gov.-elect J. Lindsay Almond Jr. in Virginia had nothing in common with Meyner or Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City, who typify the northern Democratic position in support of a strong civil rights program.

Wagner Wins 3-to-1

Wagner, son of the late new deal senator, was re-elected Tuesday when he overwhelmed Republican Robert K. Christenberry by a 3-to-1 margin. He polled the largest plurality ever given a mayoral candidate in New York.

In Tuesday's scattered off-year elections, the Republicans had to settle for what satisfaction they could get out of victories in two special congressional elections to fill vacancies in the House.

These elections were in the Atlantic City district in New Jersey and a Philadelphia suburban district in Pennsylvania. There was no significant departure from the normal voting pattern in the two districts, which have been heavily Republican in recent elections.

President Eisenhower gave his personal endorsement to Forbes, Christenberry and Ted Dalton, the GOP nominee for governor of Virginia. Only last week, the President said a Forbes victory would be a "great big shot in the arm" for Republicans still hurting from the unexpected loss of a Wisconsin Senate seat in a special election in August.

The Republican national headquarters threw everything they could into New Jersey. Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed the list of visiting campaigners. But nearly complete returns indicated that the handsome Meyner had won by a margin greater than his 150,000 plurality of four years ago. Meyner carried with him the New Jersey assembly, putting Democrats in control for the first time in 20 years, and making his victory that much harder for Republicans to swallow.

In big city elections Tuesday, David L. Lawrence was elected to a fourth term as Democratic mayor of Pittsburgh. Democrats also won mayoral elections in Buffalo and Albany, N. Y., Louisville, Ky., New Haven and Bridgeport, Conn., and Paterson, N. J.

In a victory statement Tuesday night, Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee said the GOP had invited a test of national prestige for the party and for Eisenhower and Nixon in New Jersey, Virginia and New York City.

"They lost the test," he said.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Faces Super-Salesmanship Job At NATO Meeting; Must Persuade Allies To Let USA Control Missile Bases; Hoffa's Republican Friends Duck McClellan Probe.

WASHINGTON. — It looks as if the President's trip to the NATO meeting in Paris is going to be much more than a hurrah visit to impress our western allies with unity. He and Prime Minister Macmillan have worked out a plan for the United States to set up 40 missile bases in western Europe as the answer to Russia's ICBM.

This will be the first step in supplanting land armies with push button warfare.

The plan, which has been under study in the Pentagon for some time, is to ring Russia with missile bases capable of firing the intermediate range missile, or ICBM, around 1,500 miles. This is the missile developed by the Army at Huntsville, Ala., regarding which there was so much dispute with the Air Force and which led to the court-martial of Col. John Nickerson.

The intercontinental ballistic missile or ICBM, which Russia has and we haven't, goes 3,000 miles. However, the IRB, firing 1,500 miles, is effective against Moscow if launched from bases in western Europe.

Eisenhower's chief job, according to the plan now being worked out in the White House, will be to sell our NATO allies that these missile bases should be operated by the United States, not by the smaller nations of Europe.

Naturally our NATO allies will object to having American troops occupying their soil with the right to touch a button which could bring swift retaliation against them from Russia. A touch of the button could also precipitate another world war.

Already the smaller nations have been suggesting, if not requesting, that they have these new missiles.

This is going to be the very big, very controversial problem in establishing the new bases. For our military experts fear that the new missiles, if spread around Europe in various hands, could lead to all sorts of eventualities. One push of one button could touch off World War III. And they are afraid some irresponsible commander in some isolated area might provide that push—if these new and terrible weapons are not under the direct control of Britain and the United States.

It will be Eisenhower's big job to sell this in Paris.

HOFFA'S GOP FRIENDS

Sen. John McClellan, Democrat of Arkansas, usually gets along beautifully with Republican colleagues—so much so that Democrats sometimes call him a "Republican." But he had a terrific backstage hassle the other day with Republican members of his committee when he wanted to investigate Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa. This was just before the Teamster election.

At first Republican senators refused to attend the hearings. Hoffa, of course, is a good Republican. Furthermore, Sen. Charles E. Potter of Michigan, also Republican, had been in touch with them, warning that if Hoffa is ousted from power in Michigan, the man who will rule Michigan labor will be Walter Reuther, Democrat and head of the United Auto Workers.

Senator Potter also charged that McClellan was picking on Hoffa merely because the latter is a Republican and in order to do a favor to Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts who wants the Democratic presidential nomination. If Hoffa is eliminated, Potter claimed it would help Reuther, who in turn would be expected to show his gratitude by supporting Kennedy for the Democratic nomination.

Hoffa had also gone to bat to try to defeat a fellow labor member, Pat McNamara, Democrat of Detroit, when McNamara ran against ex-Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican. Despite Hoffa's opposition, McNamara won.

As a result of Potter's confidential wire-pulling, only one Republican senator turned up for the McClellan investigation. McClellan telephoned every Republican—including Senators Ives of New York, Goldwater of Arizona, who is considered a labor-baiter by most labor leaders; and Curtis of Nebraska, also anti-labor. All of them flatly refused to come to Washington. Only Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota reluctantly gave in.

Note: It's considered significant that the only member of the AFL-CIO hierarchy who went to bat for Hoffa has been Maurice Hutcheson, head of the Carpenters' union and a staunch Republican. Hutcheson also has been under scrutiny for taking the Fifth Amendment. He refused to answer questions regarding land which he mysteriously purchased just before it was to be re-

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—More than 200 persons were present at the open house held Sunday afternoon for the Golden Wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Amon Smith at their home, 507 North Jackson street, Harrisburg. Friends and relatives were present from 20 different cities and included 24 members of the immediate family. The celebration began with the family group of 24 attending the First Baptist church in a body Sunday morning, a family dinner and then the open house from 2 to 5 p. m. The house was decorated with the Golden Wedding theme and a special feature was a 20-inch gold key on the front porch during the open house. A gold bell played the wedding march and all serving pieces were in gold with a specially created gold knife to cut the cake. The daughters-in-law of the Smiths presided at the table and were in charge of the gifts and guest book. It was indeed a wonderful occasion, never to be forgotten by Mr. and Mrs. Smith. MR. AND MRS. BRUCE POOLE, who were married on Sept. 28 at Elgin. She is the former Miss Helen Ann Forester of Harrisburg.

Miss Helen Ann Forester And Bruce Poole Wed At Elgin Baptist Church

Miss Helen Forester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forester of Harrisburg, and Bruce Poole of Mill Creek, were married Sept. 28. The Rev. Edward Lee officiated at the wedding in the First Southern Baptist church in Elgin. Escorted to the altar by her brother, Charles Forester, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of nylon tulle and sculptured satin adorned with iridescent sequins with long tapered sleeves, fitted basque bodice and quaint bouffant skirt of nylon tulle and satin which fell into soft folds. Her full circular finger tip lace edged veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a Dresden cloche of lace and tulle adorned with tiny seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with a corsage center.

Mrs. Paul Forester, Harrisburg, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Audrey Blum, Elstock of Mill Creek, attended as bridesmaid.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Bonnard Poole, as best man, and Charles Scott was usher. Both are from Elgin.

Michael Johnson of West Chicago was pianist. A reception was held in the church vestry.

Burnetts Interested In Progress of Adepaju Adernomu on Television Quiz

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. "Bob" Burnett of this city are watching with much enjoyment the progress on the $64,000 Question of Adepaju Adernomu, Youronian from Nigeria, South Africa, whose category is the Bible.

They were associated with "Ade" in a revival meeting at Myrtle Miss., where he was one of a dozen Berean college students giving their testimony as Christians.

Ade was the first of the black race admitted to Berea when the ban on racial discrimination was lifted by that college. Converted by a Baptist missionary he had come to the United States to qualify as a medical missionary and is now enrolled in the school of medical evangelists at Loma Linda, Calif.

When he accepted Christ as his savior, he lost his inheritance as the eldest son and successor-in-line of a Nigerian chieftain. His father disinherited him and has never written to him since. He has two brothers in colleges in England and one sister. There are ten million people in the Yourobi tribe, who were originally head hunters.

Mr. Burnett was the evangelistic singer at the service in Myrtle, where they met.

The smiling Christian whose ready answers on the big quiz have put him in the $16,000 class in three appearances, has indicated he will continue.

Anti-American Feeling in France Inseparably Tied with Communists

Editor's Note: James H. Byrum, native of Stonefort and former HTHS teacher, is teaching English and journalism in the Army dependent high school at Rochefort, France, and will write his impressions of the area from time to time.

There is no denying there are many communists in France; there is also much anti-American feeling. The two are inseparably tied together.

Only last week in La Rochelle communist demonstrators pulled an American MP from his jeep, beat him severely, and overturned his vehicle.

La Rochelle, a busy French port on the Bay of Biscay, has many strong ties with America. It was from here that persecuted Protestant Huguenots sailed for America in the 17th century. Many of them settled in New York and named their city New Rochelle.

La Rochelle's large dock workers' union is predominantly communist. They adhere strictly to the Moscow line; anything American is immediately suspected.

Last week the dock workers, angered because their own government had forbidden their planned peace-in-Algeria drive (communist inspired) and because the English and Americans observed the anniversary of the Hungarian revolution, suddenly left their work and marched through downtown La Rochelle. There were 200-300 of them in an ugly mood.

There is a large U. S. Army detachment based near the city. The demonstrators came upon an American MP. They dragged him from his army jeep, overturned his vehicle, beat him, pelted him with stones, and finally broke his jaw. He was rescued by French gendarmes. An American woman, her auto surrounded by the mob, suffered nothing worse than having her hair pulled.

It was an unfortunate incident and American military authorities regarded it as only that. It is unfortunate because Americans are bound to account to an expression of the whole French people. It is not that. The French people are glad to have the Americans in France. The influx of Americans with money to spend has been a much needed shot in the arm for French economy. The communists, say the French, are only a very loud minority.

"The communist — pouf!" said one Frenchman of my acquaintance, blowing across his finger tips in an expressive Gallic gesture. "They are nothing and no bodies. In France they are not even French—they are more Russian than anything."

But when the communists demonstrate in France there is an electric stillness in the air; danger rides the winds, and it seems easier to give up France, all of Europe, to the communist hordes. But, though American forces in Europe are expensive and trying, it is much cheaper and less trying than facing a solidly communistic France. Both the thinking American and thoughtful French realize that.

Two Chicago Boys Returned Home by Father, After Arrest by Local Police

Two Chicago lads were returned to Chicago this morning by the father of one to face charges there after their arrest last night by Harrisburg police.

The two are Kenneth Gage, 15, and James Soldat, 17.

Chief of Police Ross Lane said the two checked in the Colonial hotel between 3 and 4 a. m. Tuesday and checked out at 1 p. m., taking their luggage to the bus station here.

Police then learned that the two

Inspect Route For Area Canal

CARTERSVILLE, Ill. (U-P)—Army engineers are scheduled to make another inspection Wednesday over the route of a proposed 55-mile canal which southern Illinois civic leaders and local officials say would help tap a coal reserve of 16 billion tons.

Maj. Gen. William A. Carter, Vicksburg, Miss., head of the Lower Mississippi Valley Division of the Army Corps of Engineers, will have his first look at the route.

He will be accompanied by Col. Charles B. Schweizer, head of the St. Louis office of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Schweizer, who recently was named to the St. Louis post, was in a group of 45 that made an inspection Monday. Schweizer said a preliminary report on the feasibility of canalizing Big Muddy River and Beaucoup Creek will be made the latter part of January.

"If the project is economically justified, you can be sure that it will move on its way," he said.

The route would stretch from the dam site of the proposed Rend Lake in Franklin and Jefferson counties to near Grand Tower in Jackson County where it would enter the Mississippi River. It would also go through Perry and Williamson counties.

Council Meetings Seek to Fill Williams Vacancy

The Harrisburg city council last night deliberated in private in an effort to agree on a successor to Don Williams, whose office was vacated by court action after he moved outside the limits.

Failing to agree, another meeting was set for 7:30 tonight.

Regular meeting time was 1 p. m. Tuesday and after conducting routine business, the council adjourned its meeting at 1:30 until 7:00 last night out of respect to the late Senator Glen O. Jones, whose funeral was held at 2 p. m.

The council is trying to agree on a successor before the end of the week. City Attorney George B. Lee pointed out that a new state law, passed this year, provides that city councils shall fill council vacancies, that if after 30 days members cannot agree, they may call a special election to choose someone.

Saturday is the last of the 30-day period since the office became vacant, Lee stated.

Last night the council left the council room and caucused for an hour and five minutes in the mayor's office. Names of possible selections discussed were not revealed.

Perry County Voters Defeat Proposal for $600,000 Nursing Home

DU QUOIN, Ill. (U-P)—Perry County voters defeated a proposal to construct a $600,000 county nursing home by only two votes Tuesday.

The unofficial tally showed 2,643 votes against the proposal. It was the first time in 70 years that the county had voted on a special tax for construction purposes.

In the commissioner race, Henry Eisenhauer, a Republican and farmer, defeated incumbent Leo Hindman by 197 votes. Hindman, a Du Quoin businessman and a Democrat, had served two terms.

Apparently Bright Stars

Sighting of Flying Objects Create Excitement in Midwest

CHICAGO (U-P)—A flurry of flying saucer sightings in the Midwest created considerable excitement Tuesday night, but Air Force pilots and other authorities said most of the objects apparently were bright stars.

A salesman at Kearny, Neb., stirred up the biggest scare when he reported a "spaceship" landed and he talked with four men and two women aboard. Police cooled on his claim today when it was learned the salesman, Reinhold Schmidt, 48, was a former convict who served a term for embezzlement.

But Schmidt stuck by his story, claiming the "space people" spoke English and German and showed him around their ship. He said the object looked like a blimp, was transparent from the inside, and contained a maze of instruments and wires.

Most of the mystery sightings occurred over northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. The objects

Dignitaries Attend Rites for Senator Jones

Leansboro and Senator A. L. Cronin of Chicago.

Dr. W. L. Cummins, in his remarks at the funeral, declared: "The loss we have suffered in southern Illinois is immeasurable. He was our man and leader, the most unforgettable person I knew."

"We can feel ashamed that we called on him as much as we did, but he was one on whom we have depended so much."

"What do we do now? That's the feeling of so many in southern Illinois."

"What will we do? That question should be a challenge to other young men to do things bigger, to be men whom the spoils of office cannot buy, men who have honor, men who will not lie."

Pallbearers were James Scates, Kelly Murray, George Johnson, Wilburn Tate, Cecil Tate, Paul Fulkerson and Paul Eugene Fulkerson, all neighbors and friends of the senator, in Raleigh township, and Laymar Jones of Eldorado.

Burial was in Raleigh Masonic cemetery.

Several local stores closed for the funeral service. The court house closed at noon and the Harrisburg city council adjourned its meeting out of respect to the late senator.

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Eisenhower appeared ready today to give the nation as frank an appraisal of U. S. missile strength as security will permit in his televised address Thursday night.

Officials disclosed that Eisenhower has had Defense Department experts preparing for him detailed data on American missile performance compared with that of Russia's new space-conquering rockets.

The President decided with dramatic suddenness Tuesday night to speak to the nation from the White House on the same day that the Russians celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Soviets Report Working on Photonic Rockets

LONDON (U-P)—Soviet scientist Cyril Stanyukovich said today the Russians are working on photonic rockets which theoretically could approach the speed of light—186,000 miles a second.

Stanyukovich also reported in an article in the newspaper Trud: "Russia used a liquid super-fuel and not nuclear energy to launch its second earth satellite."

"Russian work on atomic energy 'opens great possibilities in building atom jet engines which would facilitate flights to other planets.'"

Stanyukovich gave no details of the research into the photonic rockets except to say Soviet scientists were working on such rockets "which would develop super-cosmic speeds approximating the speed of light."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Grib-ble, who passed away Nov. 6, 1948, nine years ago today.

In my loving book of memories,
Is the one we cherished dear;
We think of the heavenly deeds
You did while you were waiting here.

But, dear Father called you
To come or first to your heavenly home.

Your race was run, and your work was done.
For you to enter home,
You had done it all and did so well.

Your earthly work in heaven fell,
He knew the people here could tell.

The very road you loved so well.
For on it there you always stayed,
Until your home in heaven was made.

Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren. *111-1

State to Open Goose Hunting Areas Friday

SPRINGFIELD — The state Conservation Department today announced it will open its public goose hunting areas at the Union County and Horseshoe Lake refuges on Friday.

About 100 pits or blinds will be offered for drawing by hunters at 8 a. m. each morning the first week the areas are open. The limits on the areas will be one goose per hunter and shooting hours will be from sunrise to noon.

Starting the second week, Nov. 15, half the pits will be allocated in advance to holders of permits obtained by mail earlier this fall and the remainder of the pits will continue to be offered at drawings.

The department said its decision to open the public areas on the opening day of the season was prompted by the tremendous population of geese at both refuges.

Department Director Glen D. Palmer predicted that hunting success in southern Illinois this season should be the best in years.

Last week's waterfowl census showed 213,000 geese on the two refuges and on the federally owned Crab Orchard Refuge.

Navy's Erdelatz Coach of Week

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — He once said "you have to be a little goofy to be a football coach."

He isn't goofy at all but rather, as one writer once described him, "as knowing as a chief petty officer and as wise as an admiral."

He isn't a braggart but was quick to say "we feel we are going to win every game we play."

He's Eddie Erdelatz of Navy, the United Press Coach of the Week after his Navy team whipped previously unbeaten Notre Dame, 20-6, Saturday and proved that sailors can travel via land and air, too.

Erdelatz has developed possibly the best starting backfield in the nation. In fact, he was so satisfied during spring practice that he called a halt after 17 days (three less than the NCAA limit).

Don't get the idea that the 44-year-old Erdelatz is over-confident. He just knows a good thing when he sees it. When Navy wins, he gives the credit to "our great players." When the Middies lose, he says "it's all my fault."

Living up to personal tradition, Erdelatz attributed the win over Notre Dame to his players, assistant coaches and the Navy student body.

"We have exceptional spirit at the Academy," he explained. "The Midshipmen chipped in $550 to have their cheers piped into the Notre Dame Stadium."

Announce Dates For Sale of Cage Reserved Seats

Basketball season is fast approaching at Harrisburg Township high school and Marie McCormick, athletic business manager, stated today that season reserved seats will go on sale for persons who held reserved seats last year Nov. 12-16 at the Athletic House.

The following week season reserved seats will go on sale to the general public at the Athletic House and on Nov. 25 sales will be moved back to the high school. Mrs. McCormick said some business men had expressed a desire to buy season tickets to be used by employees and customers and tickets would be available to any businesses which desire to buy them.

Price for nine games, which is all home games excluding tournaments, is $8.

4-H Achievement Day Friday Night at Muddy Grade School

Achievement day for the 4-H clubs will be observed in the Muddy grade school at 7 p. m. Friday. The Blue Ribbon Homemakers club of Stonefort will entertain, led by Mrs. Sim Richerson. There will be a movie and awards will be presented by the home and farm advisers, the summer youth assistant, Jack Yates, and presidents of Farm and Home Bureau executive boards and the 4-H chairmen of the board. Parents are invited to attend and bring the entire family.

Equality Cage Team Has Experience, Fair Height; Opens Season Friday Night

Lots of experience, fair speed and good height—that's the story of the Equality high school basketball squad that has been working out under the direction of Coach Tony Franc for the 1957-58 season, which starts Friday night with Thompsonville the visiting team.

Coach Franc has nine of last year's team that won half of its 20-game schedule and won one of four tournament games.

Although he doesn't have an unusually tall man, he has two 6-2 and a 6-1 on his starting five, plus guards that stand 5-9. This is a far cry from Equality teams of the past years that had no one approaching the 6-2 mark and 5-5 players were the rule instead of the exception.

The Equality team will go into a fast break on occasions, but for the most part will play a slow, deliberate, pattern type of offense and have practiced various defenses. "We don't want to get catalogued as any particular type of team, but will mix our defensive play and switch our offensive as the game progresses," Coach Franc declared recently.

The starting five will probably be Gordon Smith, 6-1 senior, and Harlin Barnett, 6-2 junior, at the forward posts, Jim Carnett, 6-2 junior, center, Terry Glover and Bernie Emery, a pair of 5-9 senior guards.

First line reserves are Dave Beverly, 6-1 senior center and forward, Buddy Colbert, 5-10 senior forward, Larry Mitchell, 5-8 junior forward, Carl Banett, 5-8 senior guard, and Ron Thompson, 5-10 junior forward.

Other squad members: Bill Fink, 5-8 sophomore, Bruce Gowen, 5-8 sophomore, and Don Thompson, 5-10 junior.

Anthony Franc

The schedule:

Nov. 8, Thompsonville, home.
Nov. 12, *Galatia, home.
Nov. 15, Rosiclare, home.
Nov. 19, Crab Orchard, home.

Lane Denies Reported Deal for Boyer, Schmidt

ST. LOUIS — Frank Lane, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday denied a reported deal which would send Ken Boyer and pitcher Willard Schmidt to Pittsburgh in a trade for Frank Thomas and Gene Freese of the Pirates.

Lane did say there has been some talk on the subject of trading with the Pirates but said Schmidt "hasn't even been mentioned."

"We're not trying to deal Boyer," he said. "Because of his natural talent he ought to be untouchable. He can do everything, but will he?"

Lane is attending a National League meeting in Chicago today.

Pettit Leads Hawks to 115-101 Win Over Nats

By United Press
Bob Pettit, the St. Louis Hawks' 6-foot, 9-inch sharpshooter, is setting a whirlwind early pace in an effort to recapture the National Basketball Association scoring championship he lost to Philadelphia's Paul Arizin last season.

The ex-LSU star rang up 34 points in leading the Hawks to a 115-101 victory over the Syracuse Nationals Tuesday night and now has tallied 165 points in six games for a 27.5 average. Arizin won the scoring title last season with a 25.6 average, partly because Pettit was injured in the closing weeks of the campaign.

Tuesday night's victory squared the Hawks' record at 3-3 and sent them into a first-place tie with the Cincinnati in the circuit's Western Division.

The champion Boston Celtics ran their unbeaten streak to six games in the opener of the doubleheader at St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium by whipping the Detroit Pistons, 111-105.

The Celtics' sixth straight win enabled them to open up a two and a half game lead on New York in the Eastern Division but they're still a long way from the NBA mark of 15 straight victories at the start of a season — set by Washington in 1948.

Boston is at Minneapolis in tonight's only game.

Whatever Happened to—

Burleigh Grimes

By United Press
The last of the legal spitball pitchers in the major leagues, Burleigh Grimes stayed in the majors for 19 years and tossed his spitter for every National League club except the Reds and Phillies during that time. He prospered chiefly at Brooklyn in nine seasons but over all he had five campaigns in which he won 20 or more games topped by 25-14 at Pittsburgh in 1928.

Whatever happened to Burleigh Grimes? Today, now 64, "Berling Burleigh" has retired to his farm at Trenton, Mo., but still insists "they ought to bring back the spitball."

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

LISA HALL had been crying. When she glanced around and saw McKee and Sarah a deep blush suffused her white skin from throat to hairline. She backed up until she reached the metal table on which her purse and gloves lay, leaned against the table for support and did what she could with a handkerchief to obscure her face. She was terrified, she couldn't hide her terror.

There was no fear in Tom, no fumbling, no hesitation, and certainly no trace of guilt. "Sarah! His face lit up. He came over to her quickly. He wasn't embarrassed or confused. When he looked at her the line between his brows ironed out. "I'm glad you're here."

The ground steadied under Sarah's feet and the icy water that had deluged her began to wash away. No man could look as Tom looked, speak as he spoke, and be a liar and a cheat.

Tom was talking. "Come and meet Lisa . . . Lisa, Sarah Case-ment." He turned back to the Scotsman, with a lift of his brows and a keen look. "Inspector McKee, isn't it? I rather thought you might be along, Inspector, after what Mrs. Hall's been telling me." He spoke pleasantly. His smile was dry.

The last vestiges of coldness in Sarah went and she could breathe freely again. McKee merely said that he wanted a word with Tom and they went into the house and up the stairs. And then it came; the substance of the telephone call the Inspector had received a few minutes earlier was laid bare.

Tom was the man who had burgled the Melville house on the night of the day Grant Melville died. Tom's fingerprints were on the trap door that had been broken open, and at various other spots along the route by which he had come and gone, over the roofs to an apartment building near the corner.

The Inspector made the statement calmly and without rancor. He was on his feet near the little pot-bellied stove. Sarah sat beside Tom on a dilapidated sofa, and Lisa Hall was in a chair opposite. Complete silence for a moment. Behind isinglass the oil flame fluttered. Lisa Hall had regained a little of her composure. The last trace of it left her. She went dead white and pressed her handkerchief to her lips with a convulsive gesture.

THE inspector went on talking quietly, in a musing tone. "You'd do a lot for your uncle, wouldn't you, Mr. Gillespie? It must be a serious matter, very serious indeed—or perhaps you went back to Melville's studio to get something you left behind you during the afternoon, when you shoved Grant Melville through the window to his death."

Still Tom said nothing. He didn't move a muscle. It was Lisa Hall who broke. "No," she cried, almost shrieking. "Tom didn't kill anyone. I was the one—"

That got through to Tom. He came to life. He turned on her sharply.

"Lisa, No."

Tom started to get up and go to her. McKee stopped him. "Stay where you are, Gillespie." This time he was peremptory. Tom was in a rage. There was nothing he could do. Sarah passionately wished herself elsewhere.

"I didn't tell you the truth this afternoon, Inspector. I lied to you."

She went on in a low, steady voice. She said that when Grant Melville came to the apartment on the morning of the day on which he died he hadn't asked for her husband, he had asked for her. She was the one he had come to see. His name meant nothing to her, she had never heard of him. When he was refused entrance he sent a note in to her. As soon as she read the note she knew she had to see him. He had brought a painting with him. The painting was for sale. He said that he knew when she saw it she'd want to buy it, and that the price was $15,000. Then he took the painting out and showed it to her.

McKee said, "It was a painting of you that could have been hung, Mrs. Hall?"

Lisa Hall drew a long, shuddering breath. "Part of it. But there was—a little scene in the background . . ."

MELVILLE had said that the background would be painted out and another one put in if she decided to buy. When she told him she didn't have that much money available and that it would take a while to get it, he was angry.

She moistened dry lips. "Channing was in the next room. I didn't know he was there, I thought he had gone out. When I went into the library he was standing close to the door. He looked at me and started to say something, and then his face changed and he fell."

"He had had a stroke?"

"Yes," she whispered, "yes," and raised her head and looked at McKee directly for the first time. "We didn't want anyone to know about it. He has important things to do. That's why I lied to you, Inspector. Channing was very ill he's just beginning to improve. The doctors say he'll recover completely if nothing further happens, if he remains quiet, isn't upset, worried . . ." Her look was imploring.

McKee had been watching her closely.

"After your husband was stricken you sent immediately for Mr. Gillespie and told him everything that had happened?"

"Yes. There was no one else, and I had to have help, advice."

"Well, Gillespie?"

Annual Production In U. S. at $439 Billion, Weeks Says

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks disclosed today that the nation produced goods and services during the third quarter of this year at an all-time record annual rate of 439 billion dollars.

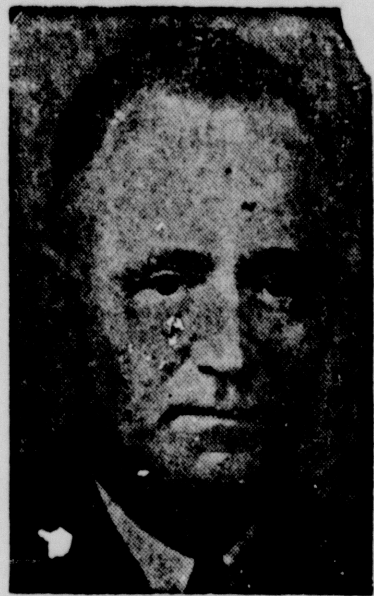

Weeks said the gross national product for 1957 will average out to about 435 billion dollars—also a new record as contrasted to 415 billion dollars in 1956, the previous high mark.

Weeks gave the figures to a United Press reporter following a speech in which he said "There's nothing to be scared about in the business situation today." He described the current situation as a leveling off from a climb to all-time economic highs.

"In the long pull," he predicted, "our economy is bound to grow."

Predicting that 1957 will turn out to be a year of record prosperity, Weeks told the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn. that "1958 may be a breather with changes from 1957 fractional only." He emphasized that "this sideways movement is in fact on a record high plateau."

Nickell Reports Drop in Number School Districts

SPRINGFIELD — Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell today reported a drop of 169 in the number of school districts in Illinois between the end of the 1955-56 school year and the end of the 1956-57 school year.

The state now has 1,849 school districts, Nickell said.

The total includes 344 unit districts, 280 secondary districts and 1,225 elementary districts. Unit districts have grades from kindergarten to the fourth year of high school.

Before the state launched its school district consolidation program, Illinois had a total of 11,995 districts in 1944-45.

Homecoming Activities at SIU Begin Thursday

CARBONDALE, Ill. — With Southern Illinois beginning three days of homecoming activities Thursday, Nov. 7, student committee members are preparing to entertain thousands of alumni and other visitors.

Coronation ceremonies for Southern's 1957 homecoming queen, including the annual visit of the mysterious King Menes, will be open to the public in Shryock Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.
